Looking for exciting ways to connect with friends new and old?

Now through November every Thursday Night the MAH has a new event designed just for the 18 and older to have fun and connect. With three brand new events, plus the popular Shake the Square movement classes, there is something for everyone every Thursday night.

Adultish events combine witty speakers, group competition, new skills, and unpredictable fun in a space where anything goes.

The MAH has always been a place for family-friendly fun, highlighted in the success of Friday Make and Sunday Play events this summer. Those free events have been a great way to collaborate and welcome people who may not traditionally think museums are for them in a fun, creative way. The new Adultish Thursday Nights are designed in the same way, but instead of crafts it's learning new skills, connecting across differences, and hearing from interesting people in your community over drinks.

Event Descriptions

(topics vary week to week check full calendar at abbottsquare.org for updates)

Shake the Square

Get moving in a series of free, outdoor movement classes in Abbott Square. Think yoga one week, salsa another, and west coast swing the next. All experience levels welcome.

Crash Course: _____

Take a crash course in something new, interesting, or outlandish in this class series from diverse Santa Cruz community members. Graduate at the end of every class with a custom “degree” to show off to all your friends.

Unexpected Connections

Find the link between two completely different speakers at this wildly entertaining series with friends, fun, and surprising connections.

Two speakers will give quick, witty talks on their seemingly unrelated subjects — then it is up to you to find what connects them. Compete with other groups to come up with the best connection.

Stories Under the Influence

Grab a drink from Front & Cooper and enjoy short, entertaining talks from 5 different speakers on subjects like bicycles, beer, or mapmaking. Anything is fair game when the fun and drinks are flowing.
